The Mary T. Paulin Gallery and Work Program News

New Exhibit

Our latest exhibit, Echoes, is a collaborative effort between ArtWorks and the Tucson Community Print Shop. We carefully selected works by printmakers at TCPS to include in the show. We will draw inspiration from the prints by TCPS to create a series of corresponding works to display throughout the summer. The public is encouraged to attend the show’s opening on June 19 from 1:00-3:00 PM.

Sarver Heart Center

We continue to grow our relationship with the Sarver Heart Center at the University of Arizona. Work from the Gallery Work Program’s first show, Team Awesome, is temporarily on display at the Sarver Heart Center through the end of August. Throughout the summer, ArtWorks’ artists will collaborate on a group piece for permanent display at the heart center.

CUP Mosaic Mural

During the spring, ArtWorks collaborated with students from the College of Medicine to create a mosaic mural in the community garden. Neighborhood members grow vegetables and flowers in the garden located north of the Highland Parking Garage next to Artworks. The mural depicts an apple tree and veggie garden. Medical students, staff, and artists discussed themes related to healthy lifestyle choices and eating. Everyone worked together to design unique and personal apple tiles!

University of Arizona Museum of Art

The University of Arizona Museum of Art recently dedicated a gallery space to community programs and partnerships. We are in the initial stages of meeting with faculty from the UAMA to see what is possible. We are excited to collaborate with such a great museum. Stay tuned for future updates!

Join us at ArtWorks on Friday June 19 from 1:00-3:00 for the opening of Echoes!

Lorraine Heydorn

Throughout the spring semester, Lorraine served as a Sonoran UCEDD Trainee through her involvement in Disability Perspectives in Research, Policy, and Practice. This course, offered by the department of Family and Community Medicine, explores theories and their professional application within the field of disability studies. Lorraine completed a research project, under the supervision of ArtWorks’ director, Yumi Shirai, Ph.D., Lorraine’s research analyzed what community activities older adults with DD naturally participate in throughout the Tucson community. All three of her interviewees were providers affiliated with ArtWorks. Lorraine expanded opportunities for older adults with DD to participate in existing community programs for adults/seniors. She intends to continue working on this project up until she graduates.

Casey Primeau

Casey is currently in her third year of working at ArtWorks. She is a junior studying Neuroscience and Cognitive Science and plans to pursue occupational therapy. This past semester she participated in the Sonoran UCEDD’s 2015 trainee program. As part of her time as a trainee, she helped at the Arizona Sonora Border (ARSOBO) wheelchair and prosthetic clinic in Nogales, Mexico. The clinic aims to provide assistive technology to people who have limited access. Casey interviewed individuals in the process of getting prosthetics, family members, and prosthetic engineers. She identified a general need for diabetes education as many of the people at the clinic had amputations as a result of diabetic neuropathy. Under the supervision of Duke Duncan, M.D., Casey researched the potential benefits of providing increased diabetes education at this site.

Hillary Douglas

Hillary graduated with her master’s degree in Art Education in May. During the month of March, she led a study to inform her thesis. The research involved several members of ArtWorks and focused on how the ideas and interests of individuals with disabilities could shape visits to art museums. The University of Arizona Museum of Art (the UAMA) expressed interest in ongoing work with with ArtWorks. A museum exhibit of work by artists from ArtWorks is tentatively planned for the spring of 2016. Hillary now works with us full-time and will continue to build this relationship.
